CONGRESS.

The National Legislature Clearing the Deck for Action.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Congress reassembled this morning.

The following bills and resolutions were placed on the table pending the appointment of committees:

By Beck—To provide for retiring the trade dollar and for its coinage into the standard silver dollar; also, to authorize the purchase of foreign-built ships by citizens of the United States.

By Voorhees—A resolution instructing the committee on finance to enquire into the expediency of making the trade dollar a legal tender for all debts, public and private, and providing for the re-coinage into the standard silver dollar of 412½ grains.

By Blaine—The following resolution:

Resolved, That the judiciary committee be instructed to enquire and report to the senate whether at the recent elections the constitutional rights of American citizens were violated in any of the states of the Union, and whether the right of suffrage of citizens of the United States, or of any class of such citizens, was denied or abridged by the action of the election officers of any state in refusing to receive their votes, or in failing to count them, or in receiving and counting fraudulent ballots in pursuance of a conspiracy to make the lawful votes of such citizens of no effect, and whether such citizens were prevented from exercising the elective franchise, or forced to use it against their wishes by violence, or threats, or hostile demonstrations of armed men or other organizations, or by any other unlawful means or practices.

Resolved, That the judiciary committee be further instructed to enquire and report whether it is within the competency of congress to provide by additional legislation for a more perfect security of the right of suffrage to citizens of the United States in all states of the Union.

Resolved, That in prosecuting these inquiries the judiciary committee shall have the right to send for persons and papers.

The President's message was then read and ordered printed, when the senate adjourned.

The House.

The roll-call showed 229 members present—Bailey of New York and Majors of Nebraska, new members—then took the impanelled oath.

Upon the reading of the President's message, Wood of New York made a speech, deprecating the assertion of the President that there had been anything wrong about the elections in the South. There was, Mr. Wood said, no foundation for the President's charges.

Garfield agreed with the President and objected to Wood's check.

Hale said, regarding the assertion that the stalwarts had dragged the President, that he would tell the gentleman (Wood) that on the great and fundamental doctrine the protection of a citizen in all his rights there was no radical nor conservative wing in the Republican party, but there was one party in the land united to a man or the position of an American citizen, North, South and everywhere, should be protected in the exercise of constitutional rights.

Cox asked if Garfield and Hale forgot how the "tapeworm" ticket of California had been run behind by the Navy Yard? Had they denounced the tapeworm policy? Not much.

A motion to refer and print the message was agreed to, and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—In the senate to-day Paddeck submitted a resolution instructing the committee on finance to inquire into the expediency of making trade dollars legal tenders for all debts, public and private, and providing for the suspension of the coinage of the standard silver dollar of 412½ grains, and the recoinage of the same into trade dollars of 430 grains, and for such additional coinage of trade dollar as the needs of the country may demand. Laid over.

THE HOUSE.

In the house several bills were introduced for the recoinage of the silver trade dollar, and regarding the standard silver dollar, the repeal of the Resumption act, and the appointment of a committee on the yellow fever epidemic.

CAUCUSES ON BLAINE'S RESOLUTION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Blaine's resolution, providing for an inquiry into the recent elections in the Southern states, was considered in caucus to-day by both the Republican and Democratic senators. The Republicans decided to press the resolution for adoption, after an amendment that the investigation be made by a special committee instead of by the judiciary committee. The Republicans also decided to offer soon a resolution declaring the entire validity of constitutional amendments and asserting the propriety of enforcing them by appropriate legislation. The Democratic senators decided that Blaine's resolution should be amended to refer to violations of the election laws, or abridgements of the right of suffrage in both Northern and Southern states, and, thus amended, to vote for its adoption.

MURDERED FOR 25 CENTS.

Particulars of the Killing of Halsey at Sweetwater.

The readers of the Gazette will remember that Samuel Halsey, late candidate for district attorney in Esmeralda county, was shot and killed at Sweetwater station last Sunday by Bill Pierce, a young man who kept a saloon at that place. From the Geneva News we learn what purports to be the circumstances of the tragedy, as follows: Halsey was working for Williams in the mountains, and came down to Pierce's saloon a day or two previous to his death. While there Pierce asked him to go down to Elbow station and work for him, stating that he had bought the place of Mr. Holdridge and would need help. Halsey told him that he had a job with Mr. Williams and did not care to change. When he went home he found that Mr. Williams was not quite ready for him and so concluded to go and work for Pierce if he still desired him to do so. He went to the saloon and told Pierce that he would work for him, but that he would have to go up in the mountains after his bedding and clothes. When he was about to leave the saloon Pierce asked him to take a drink, which he declined. Pierce then drew some money from his pocket and threw it on the counter, and bantered Halsey to shake the dice for it. Halsey put up an equal amount and was about to shake, when Pierce accused Halsey of stealing twenty-five cents from him. Halsey told him he was mistaken and drew down his part of the money. Pierce wanted to shake but Halsey declined. Pierce then again wanted Halsey to drink with him. Halsey said he did not want to drink with a man who would accuse him of stealing, and started to go away, when Pierce picked up one of the tumblers and threw it at Halsey, striking him in the face cutting an ugly gash. Pierce then threw the second tumbler but missed him. Halsey walked out of the door and Pierce came from behind the counter with a pistol in his hand. By standarders attempted to prevent his going further, and in the scuffle one shot was discharged through the panel of the saloon door. Pierce cocked the pistol again and threatened to shoot anyone who interfered, and they let him go. He then walked to the door where Halsey was still standing, bleeding from the wound in his head, and placing the pistol but a few inches from his breast, fired. Halsey sank down saying, "That's all right, Pierce," and died almost instantly.

Another Comstock Invention.

[Virginia Chronicle.]

An ingenious Comstocker has just completed the model of a machine which he thinks will effectually do away with grave robbing, or "body-snatching" as it is vulgarly called. The contrivance is a combination of Edison's phonograph, with a piece of machinery which goes off like an alarm clock. The phonograph is attached to the machine inside the coffin. When the body-snatcher pulls up the lid, a spring is released, the clock moves rapidly, and the phonograph begins to revolve, while from the depths of the tomb a sepulchral voice exclaims in dreaded accents, "Get out of here, you scoundrel!" A moment later a second phonograph is set in motion, a little distance away, which remarks in the gruff tones of a policeman, "Drop that stuff!" At this point the spoliators of the grave betake themselves to the fence and scramble over, leaving fragments of their pantaloons on the iron pickets, whereby their identification by the detectives is rendered almost certain.

Fourteen Men Drowned at Sea.

NEW DEPARTURE.—On and after December 1st, 1878, the store of Manning & Duck will be conducted on a cash basis.

Every customer will be compelled to pay for his own goods. No extra profits for bad debts. We propose to sell goods cheaper than they have ever been sold in this market. We are compelled to this important step by several weighty reasons: First, we wish to encourage prompt payment. Second, the prompt payment should not be compelled to pay an extra profit or the slow customer or the man that never pays. Third and most important reason, we are not able to carry so large an amount of capital on our books and keep up our stock of goods. Good gut edge customers will be allowed a credit of thirty days. If by agreement longer time is given, interest of 1½ per cent a month will be charged. A. H. MANNING.

N. B. The old accounts of Manning & Duck must be settled by cash or note by the 1st of January or they will be placed in the hands of a collector for collection. A. H. MANNING.

The scarcity of diamonds, gold and silver, and the difficulties met with in securing them, is a sure indication of their value. Thus it is with a valuable medicine. Dr. Aug. Kaiser's celebrated German Pulmonic Elixir, through the jealousy of rivals, has met with the most bitter opposition, and apparently almost insurmountable obstacles have been thrown in its way; but its opponents might as well try to change the course of the sun, sweep back the ocean with a broom, or put out a prairie fire with a tear. For the cure of Throat and Lung diseases, such as Coughs, Colds, Consumption and Bronchial Affections, it is unequalled. Its cures are truly magical. Ask your druggist, Ochsner & Shoemaker for it. The genuine bears the signature of Dr. Aug. Kaiser, and has his name blown on every 7-cent bottle. Trial bottle, 25 cents. an700d

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.—I do not sell any goods 20 per cent below cost, or even at cost, but I offer my first-class stock of clothing, furnishing goods, boots and shoes, hats and caps, trunks and valises, etc., which have been bought for cash at the lowest market rates. Therefore I wish the public to post themselves on my prices before going to the hanging shops where they are always drumming into the ear that they are selling at cost or below cost. They either bought unsalable goods or they lie to deceive the public; they don't deserve to be patronized. WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1878

A NARROW GAUGE SCHEME.

It is very probable that at the next session of the legislature a bill authorizing the people of Storey and Washoe counties to subscribe for the construction of a narrow gauge railroad from Reno to Virginia City, will be introduced. Such a road, by the short route which will no doubt be proposed, would undoubtedly be of immense benefit to Reno and the state. That is the chief reason why it will be impossible or nearly impossible to pass the bill. Heavy interests will be arrayed against it and we fear that there is great danger that the knuckles which hand up the bill will be severely rapped with a golden rod. The proposition is a very seductive one and would be extremely popular but for the prevalent suspicion that the persons who have the scheme in hand (at present unknown to the GAZETTE) may be much more interested in alarming (profitably, to themselves, of course) the heavy interests before referred to than in benefiting the people. The bill, if presented at all, must be presented by men of known honesty and public spirit. If any one of shaky reputation has anything to do with it the project will fall flat under the contempt of the people, who will not knowingly act the part of tools in the hands of a few rascally politicians intent upon blackmailing wealthy corporations. The bill, actively taken hold of by honest men with no selfish ends to serve, ought to pass the legislature. The honest men, however, will perhaps be as hard to find as it would be difficult to pass the bill in the face of the kind of opposition sure to be arrayed against it. The taxpayers of Washoe will keep a bright lookout for this railroad bill.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Under the new management the Granger House has met with fine success. A new club room has been fitted up with an eye to comfort and convenience, the bar and table improved and prices greatly reduced. It is a nice quiet place.

Whis it that Reno is given the go-by by most good theatrical troupes? We have not a first-class theater, it is true, but we have a very nice hall and a stage quite as good as those to be found in any town of equal size in the state. Reno is not a bad "show town" by any means. When any entertainment of merit comes along it is always well patronized. The people here are as intelligent and appreciative as those of any part of the coast and know a good thing when they see it.

The Clear Creek fluming company have suspended operations for the season. It is a most wonderful operation that. Think of it, millions upon millions of feet of lumber, square timber and cordwood—and all run down a mountain side that would scare a New York exquisite to look at.—Carson Tribune.

It is indeed an awful sight, that mountain side. Only bold, bearded, blood-bathed frontier desperadoes like Deacon Parkinson can gaze upon it and not stagger back in affright. Every New York exquisite who has dared to look upon it, has fallen and with one last gasp of farewell to family, friends and life, has gone up the flume.

A dispatch from Deadwood says: M. L. Conk, tried and convicted of the murder of Mrs. Minnie Callison on August 30, was sentenced to be hanged on January 28. The scene in court was very affecting, the judge completely breaking down in passing the sentence. Dear, dear. How very sad. Let the tender-hearted Deadwooders buoy themselves up with the reflection that it won't be the poor judge who will completely break down on the 28th, although, for our part, we should not be sorry to hear of anything happening to a man who could shed tears at helping to strangle the average Black Hiller.

It is now reported that Jim Keene, Jay Gould and Russel Sage are at the head of a conspiracy to buy up $40,000,000 or so of gold before January 1st and in other ways gobble coin and cause it to be gobbled to such an extent that the government will find it impossible to redeem the currency as per promise, and send the price of gold up to their own advantage. This is a nice plot to throw the country into another financial panic and if any set of men can make it a success the money-marauders named were the ones to do it.

The Reno GAZETTE is not much of a news paper, but a funny paper.—Carson Tribune.

The collection of clippings which is good enough to utter this whopper about the GAZETTE is requested to look over its files and tell when the GAZETTE ever missed a news item. The Tribune is also referred to the columns of to-day's GAZETTE for a report of the trial of the Cherry Creek stage robber, Wilson, which the Tribune with true Carson enterprise failed to give. There is also in to-day's GAZETTE an account of the arrest in Carson of a man who attempted to bribe a witness, which the critical Tribune overlooked.

The clergy of San Francisco should march in a body upon the office of the Stock Exchange for this:

Rev. Dr. Morrison lectured last night at All Saints' church on "False Moltes." We expect to see a card from the reverend gentleman very soon, explaining that he did not mean to refer to any of the ladies of his congregation.

Statistics show the the consumption of whiskey in this country increased last year 1,872,000 gallons. It is also worthy of notice that Bob Ingersoll boasts that in five years the free-thinkers will be in the majority in the United States.

Kearney and Wellock's exposure of the venality of our city papers, on the sand lots yesterday, caused hearty applause and laughter. The Post was not included in the scathing review.—S. F. Post.

For the reason, probably that it will take an entire speech to do the subject justice.

Editor Bassett has made a success of the San Francisco Golden Era which was all but dead when he took hold of it. Under his management it has become a clever, entertaining journal. It has just entered upon its twenty-seventh year.

Harlow, an American, was at one time in command of the Afghan army.—S. F. Alta.

Ben Hill agrees with Wood of New York that the President's wild assertion that there has been any bulldozing the South is an outrage. Hill and Wood doubtless also deny the crucifixion.

Mrs. Tilton has been expelled from Plymouth church and now serves as a useful example of the fate which is sure to overtake people who can't keep a secret.

Deacon Parkinson, condemns stock gambling. The reason is easy to guess.—S. F. Stock Report.

Not for us. What is it?

The San Francisco Post is meanly and shamelessly truckling to Kearney.

Press Comments on the President's Message.

NEW YORK, December 3d.—The Sun on the President's message says: In this message Hayes fails utterly to recognize the great and pressing questions of the times, and fails to make any new suggestions worthy of a man of affairs, and again shows himself to be an incompetent as he is a fraudulent President.

The Times says: The message is ineffective as well as brief. It is silent where positive utterances are required, evasive where plainness is essential to truth, non-committal on points in reference to which the head of the administration should be emphatic, and in its treatment of controverted topics, is pervaded by a mild optimism, which in some quarters may pass for amiability, but will be more generally regarded as evidence of weakness.

The Tribune says: The message is a plain document, a mere synopsis. It congratulates the country on the firm stand the President has taken in the matter of the Southern outrages. The Republicans will sustain him with all their heart and strength. The Herald says: The message is moderate even to tameness; more remarkable for omissions which imply with its political party than for recommendations looking to legislative action. Plain and servile the message is, the President evinces good sense and sound discretion, both in what he says and what he omits. It is, on the whole, cautious, judicious and conciliatory, although not very striking, and in no respect an original message.

The World does not criticize the message as a whole but discusses it in detail. It says: We quite agree with Garfield in thinking that some attention ought to be paid to what he yesterday called the modest references made by the President to "disturbances in Federal elections." There never was a federal election more effectually disturbed than the Presidential election of 1876.

CHICAGO, December 3d.—Comments on the President's message by the morning press are not noteworthy. It is spoken of as a plain setting out of facts in forcible language, and creditable in all its particulars.

Worse than a Stock Deal.

[London News, Oct. 2.]

The loss implied is something appalling. A month ago shareholders in the City of Glasgow Bank knew that the market value of their property was £240 per share, and those of them who were not behind the scenes might have had the impression that this was the real value of the share in the business—that if each £100 they held was at as great a price, there was a considerable margin to come and go upon before there could be any question of their being liable on the bank's debts. Now they know that not only has the £240 wholly disappeared, but, besides losing that property, they have to pay £500 per share besides. For every £100 they possessed, they find themselves £740 poorer than they believed they were a month ago. To a man with ten shares only, the difference is more than £7,000, with a certain liability besides if he has any means left. Even to people who had been careful not to put all their eggs into one basket, and who had, perhaps, only put into the bank a third or a fourth or even a less part of their money, the difference between their fancied position and the one to which they now wake up is the difference between wealth and ruin. In this magnitude of loss to the shareholders, the City of Glasgow Bank disaster is unique, we believe, among great failures.

A Tramp Freed.

ST. LOUIS, December 2.—The Globe-Democrat's Fort Smith (Ark.) special says: A few days ago, in Little River county, a tramp named Hilliard shot a traveler from Illinois named Farris for his money. Farris, after being shot, rode to the nearest farm-house, gave a description of the assassin and died. A number of citizens pursued, caught and hung Hilliard to a tree.

SIMMOND'S

NABOB WHISKEY.

Consumers are referred to the following extract from the report of an eminent Public Analyst:

This is a pure barley and wheat spirit, remarkable in fragrance, which impart a delicate aroma, at the same time greatly increasing its value as a diffusive stimulant. The solid residue contains a large amount of tannin derived from storing in oak casks, which imparts to the old whiskey one of its valuable individual qualities. The amount of the residue proves the whole to be free from the excessive coloring and sweetening so generally used in adulterating. In fact, in two words, it is the PUREST WHISKY, and will not only supply a public want, now that whiskies are so generally adulterated, but will be of the greatest value to the physician in those numerous cases where pure whiskies are the most useful of all medicines. WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1896

A HIDEOUS MURDER.

One Prisoner Cuts the Throat of Another from Ear to Ear.

PORTLAND, December 2.—The particulars of a horrible tragedy have just reached here from the Dalles, Washoe county. It appears that two men, named George Craig and James Cook, were tried at the present term of the state circuit court for stealing a watch from a saloon. Both were convicted, and last Friday were sentenced to the penitentiary, each for the term of seven years. Yesterday evening, these men were both placed in the same room in the jail. Sheriff Crossen was present, and several other persons. Cook was walking up and down the floor, taking long strides, and seeming greatly agitated. No particular attention was paid to his movements. Craig was quietly standing in the room. Suddenly Cook paused, whirled around, grasped Craig by the hair with his left hand, and with his right hand drew a razor from his pocket and in an instant drew the edge across Craig's throat, cutting it from ear to ear. So deep was the gash that the keen edge of the razor was turned by coming in contact with the bone of the neck. Craig fell to the floor and died instantly. The deed was committed so quickly that neither Sheriff Crossen nor those who were in the room could possibly interfere. An alarm was given and a number of persons came rushing into the room and were horrified at the ghastly spectacle. In the presence of all, Sheriff Crossen asked Cook who gave him the razor. He replied, "You did." Crossen then drew his pistol, and placing it close to Cook's head, said, "Now tell me, who gave you that razor?" Without flinching, Cook said, "You did." He added that he had rather be hanged than go to the penitentiary. His motive in this horrible murdering Craig cannot be conjectured. It is thought that his object in accusing Crossen of having furnished the instrument is to get that officer into trouble, and thereby to a certain extent exonerate himself. An old squaw, who has been kept by Cook, was seen hanging around the jail on Saturday evening. It is generally believed that she furnished him the razor. The affair has created intense excitement in the Dalles.
